(1) JOHN DAUGHMETEE.

The origin of John Daughmetee is shrouded in an impenetrable mystery, which, thus far, has defied every effort to solve it. We know certain facts of record; we have other family traditions. In some instances the facts and the traditions directly clash, in others agree. Even the spelling of his name is subject to numerous variations. Some decedents use the name Daugherty and Dougherty and claim their spelling is proper. They explain that southern dialect caused the slurring of the "R" giving it the common pronunciation of Daughity and that it gradually evolved into the use of Daughmetee.

On the other hand the evidence is fairly convincing that the name never had its origin in Daugherty or Dougherty. Living decedents, one a grandchild of John Daughmetee, now 84 years old, declare the name is of French origin and not Irish or Scotch-Irish. One can find many French names which might evolve into Daughmetee, and several are so phonetically close to the name as to make this appear logical.

The one signed document available for reference is the will of John Daughmetee, filed and probated in Estill County, Kentucky, in 1820. Unquestionably that document bears his signature and he has spelled it Daughmetee. In a certified copy of it we find the name spelled four different ways, which is all the more confusing.

It may be stated that on documents signed by the family and available for record the spelling closely follows Daughmetee. In some cases an 'H' is dropped or a 'T' added. In records, such as deeds recorded, court orders, and census reports, we find the name commonly spelled Daugherty or Dougherty. In tracing such records as we can locate we find the following names referred to, and one can see very clearly how any one of them might refer to this family:

D'audet	Daugherty
Daughity	Doty
Daughtey	Doucherty
Daughty	Daughady
Dawoughate	Doughity
Docherty	Doughty
Doherty	Dourty
Dornerty	Dowthat
Dority	Dowty

The only available census record of John Daughhetee so far discovered is the 1810 census record of Estill County, Kentucky. Merely as a matter of record we copy it in full, with his widows entry of 1820.

A John Daugherty was in the Fayette County, Kentucky tax lists for 1790 to 1792.

Another John Doherty was in the Jefferson County, Kentucky tax lists 1789, 1790, 1791, 1794, 1796, and 1799.

This particular John Daughhetee was in the Estill County tax lists 1808, 1809, 1811, 1812, 1813, 1814, 1815: in 1816 and 1817 as Senior; then alone in 1818. His widow was in the Estill County lists 1821 and 1822.

In seeking the origin of (1) John Daughhetee, we have only the family traditions to guide us. These are more or less conflicting and exceedingly difficult to reconcile.

Making due allowance for the great variance in spelling, we have records of the following persons, some of whom may have been related to this man:

Christopher Daugherty, in the tax lists of Madison County, Kentucky, from 1795.

In Clark County, Kentucky, Deed Book 4, page 369, August 1, 1807, is recorded details of a partnership land deal between James Butcher, Isaac Butcher, John Daugherty, Absolem Hunt, William Morgan, Benj. Blackburn, Edward Perkins, Francis Clark and Basil Hunt. It involved 6,212 acres on waters of Main Licking branch of Licking River, purchased from William Buck or Bush.

A John Dougherty was allowed a claim for 1400 acres of land, November 14, 1779, and given a Certificate by the court. The land was on Clarks Run of Dicks River. Dougherty proved he raised a crop of corn on the land in 1776. (From Kentucky Court reports by Gilmore)

The tradition handed down by the compiler's grandmother, (75), Josephine (Fisher) Watts, was that (1) John Daughhetee at one time owned large land holdings in Monongalia County, Va., now in West Virginia. At that time Monongalia County included land since divided into fourteen counties in West Virginia. Through some technical error this property had never been lawfully deeded by John Daughhetee, so the story went, and he had endeavored to recover it before his death.

At one stage of the negotiations with his lawyer, he became disgusted and threw his documents to the ground in a rage. The lawyer picked them up and promised to continue his efforts.

Josephine Fisher Watts at one time engaged a lawyer to try to work out the case, but he reported it would be practically impossible to clear up the record except at a huge cost.

A town, said by one of the relatives to have been Bulltown, West Virginia, was located on part of the land, which included valuable coal deposits.

The compiler of this record made an exhaustive search (not) in an effort to recover any chimerical or fabulous fortune, but to locate the source of (1) John Daugherty, so as to make this compilation more complete.

From Mrs. Nugent in the Virginia land office in Richmond we obtained an abstract of every land grant and patent issued to those bearing names similar to Daugherty.

Of these, the following may have been connected with this man.

March 31, 1780, John Daugherty, 420 acres in Lincoln County, (now Kentucky) Book H.

March 31, 1780, John Daugherty, 500 acres in Lincoln County, (now Kentucky), Book H.

November 7, 1779, John Daugherty, 200 acres in Lincoln County (now Kentucky), P. W. 1629, assigned by Henry Dougherty.

November 19, 1783, John Daugherty, 50 acres in Lincoln County (now Kentucky), Book 1.

December 10, 1783, John Daugherty, 400 acres in Lincoln County (now Kentucky), Book 1.

April 20, 1784, John Daugherty, 400 acres in Monongalia County (now West Virginia), Book L.

May 1, 1784, John Daugherty, 205 acres in Monongalia County (now West Virginia), Book L.

September 14, 1785, John Daugherty, 183 acres in Monongalia County (now West Virginia), Book R.

June 6, 1787, John Daugherty, 100 acres in Jefferson County (now Kentucky), Book 11.

March 6, 1791, John Daugherty, 1600 acres in Jefferson County (now Kentucky), Book 23.

April 21, 1782, John Daugherty, 1500 acres in Nelson County (now Kentucky), Book 24.

Another tradition which investigation shows has some basis was that John Daughhetee came to Kentucky from North Carolina via Tennessee; that he had a sister Perlina (probably Paulina) who married Jonathan Tipton in North Carolina or Virginia; that they moved to North Carolina and later to Tennessee, where Jonathan Tipton was killed by Indians.

The Tipton family is said to have been the one from whence came Governon Tipton of Indiana, but the compiler has not been able to verify that alleged fact.

In any event, we know that a William Tipton was born in Virginia in 1773, the son of Jonathan Tipton; that he was in Estill County, Kentucky, in the 1810 census, and that he died there at the age of 85, August 24, 1858. Moreover, we know the families of Daughhetee and Tipton were more than mere neighbors and that some relationship existed prior to the marriage of Jonathan Tipton and Kitty Brinegar, September 9, 1836, in Estill County, Kentucky.

Existing histories of the Tipton family thus far located and consulted do not give confirming details.

Samuel Tipton was a witness to John Daughhetee's will in 1820.

Coming now from tradition to facts of public record, we here insert a certified copy of the will of (1) John Daughhetee.

BY _____ D.D.

John Daughhetee's second wife was Susan Parker. She was the daughter of Nathaniel Parker, who was born in Baltimore County, Maryland; enlisted for Revolutionary War Service in Culpepper County, Virginia; moved to Georgia after the war; thence to Tennessee, and on to Cole County, Illinois. There he applied for and received a pension.

John Parker moved to Texas with his family while it was Mexican Territory. His son established the first Protestant Church in Texas.

The family was attacked and several members, including John Parker, killed. Some of his grandchildren were carried into captivity. Their history has been published and is a thrilling chapter in pioneer history.

John Daughhetee was born September 19, 1756. He died in Estill County, Kentucky, in 1820. He was married three times. At present we do not know the name of his first wife. Only his first and second wives bore him children. His third wife was Nancy Ellison, a widow, whom he married April 12, 1819, in Estill County, Kentucky. Our records are incomplete, but the following names have been recorded as his descendents.

(2) Mary Ann Daughhetee married William Horsely in Clark County, Kentucky, June 22, 1795. Moses Snedeker was on their bond. John and Susan Daughhetee gave consent with William Estill and James Horsely witnessing the consent. Both were alive and were in the will of 1820.

We have located no further records of this family.

They Had:

Numbers 16 and 17 reserved.

3

(3) Rachel Daughheteer married Thomas McDonald Darnall. He was born August 16, 1769. His name is spelled Darnold in the will and also in the Census records. However, it seems properly to be spelled Darnall. They were married November 2, 1801, in Clark County, Kentucky. Her father was on the bond. She is buried in Edgar County, Illinois. He was the son of John Darnell (Darnall) and Mary Ann McDonald, and is mentioned in his father's will in Kentucky in 1798. He died July 3, 1837.

He appears in the 1810 census of Estill County, Kentucky, spelled Darnald. His widow appears in the 1840 census of Edgar County, Illinois.

4

(4) Telitha Daughheteer married William Meadows in Estill County, Kentucky, December 17, 1810. After her death between 1810 and 1814, he married Sally Hanson in Estill County, October 23, 1814. John Hanson signed his marriage bond. In the 1820 census of Estill County, William Meadows name appears. His age was shown as between 26 and 45 years. He was named as one of the heirs in the will of John Daughheteer, his father-in-law, in 1820.

His census entry of 1820 shows at his home, three males and two females, all under 10 years of age. We have no information as to which, if any, of these children were from his marriage to Telitha Daughheteer.

A William Meadows was shown in the 1810 census of Estill County, Kentucky, next to an Isreal Meadows. One male and one female under ten were listed at his house. No adult female was shown. We deduce that he had been married previous to his marriage to Telitha Daughheteer in 1810.

We reserve numbers 32 to 34 for possible entries if late records are discovered.

5

(5) Elizabeth Daughheteer married Robert Mark in Clark County, Kentucky, November 6, 1805. Her Father signed the marriage bond with James P. Bullock as witness.

We have found no further records of this family, although they are reported as having moved to Bath County, Kentucky.

They Had:

Numbers 35 to 44 reserved.

(6) Moses Daughhetee was mentioned in his father's will, but had died in 1828, when two of his minor children were given to the care of his nephew, (20) Amos Darnall, in Clark County, Kentucky. He served in the War of 1812.

In the 1810 census of Estill County, Kentucky, he appears with one male and one female under ten. In the 1820 census of the same county he appears with one male and one female between 10 and 16, and one female under 10.

He was in the Estill County, Kentucky, tax lists for 1808, 1809, 1811, 1812, 1813, 1814, 1815, 1816, 1817, 1818, 1819, 1820, 1822, 1823, and 1824.

We have not found a record of Moses Daughhetee's marriage in the Kentucky records thus far made available.

He had:

*45. John, born _____:
Died _____.

*46. Susan, born _____:
Died _____.

*47. Polly, born _____:
Died _____.

*48. and 49. reserved.

(7) William Daughhetee married Miriam Roberts, March 26, 1819. She was born in South Carolina, July 24, 1805, the daughter of George Roberts and Elizabeth Lassiter. She died in Clark County, Kentucky, April 20, 1891.

Dr. George Roberts, father of Miriam Roberts, was born in South Carolina, July 5, 1784. His wife was born in Virginia June 7, 1787 (Elizabeth Lassiter). In the 1850 census of Clark County, (52) George W. Daughhetee, and his young wife, were residing at his house. (Page 72).

William Daughhetee appears in the 1830 census of Clark County, spelled Dougherty; in the 1840 census of the same County, spelled Dorherty; in the 1850 census of the same County, spelled Dougherty.

Elizabeth Lassiter Roberts died September 13, 1867.

William Daughhetee was in the Estill County, Kentucky, tax lists for 1811, 1812, 1816, 1817, 1818, and again in 1825.

He enlisted in the Kentucky Militia September 18, 1812, under Captain Jas. White; Col. De Jarnett, but was discharged October 7, 1812, due to illness (see Pension Dept. S.O. 28368). He did not see active service. After his brother, John Daughhetee took sick, he cared for him. After John died,

William took over the land he had contracted to buy. He was at one time partner in a mill with John French. It is alleged he was assaulted by French, who wielded an adz, and that William Daughhetee never sufficiently recovered to properly look after his business affairs. He died at the home of Perlina Daughhetee Cottman, Stephens, Kendall, near Log Lick, Clark County, Kentucky.

He had:

- *50. Andrew Jackson, born November 13, 1822:

- *60½. Elizabeth, born _____

(8) John Daughhetee enlisted in the War of 1812, and returned home from his service incapacitated, and never recovered. After his death, his father was appointed to administer his affairs, and his brother, William Daughhetee, took over his contract to purchase certain property (see Estill County, Kentucky, Record Book A, page 489).

(9) James Daughhetee was a twin to Daniel Daughhetee. He enlisted with his brothers, John and Daniel, for service in the War of 1812. He was captured, with his brother Daniel, in the Battle of the Thames. He was tomahawked and scalped in the presence of his brother, who was so infuriated he tore himself loose from his captors, and killed several before they could recapture him. Daniel was redheaded; which fact saved his life, his captors being superstitious about scalping a redheaded captive.

(10) Daniel Daughhetee was a twin to James Daughhetee. He served with his brothers, John and James in the War of 1812. He was captured in the Battle of the Thames, along with his brother James. He was rescued, but never recovered from the experience and exposures to which he was subjected.

The only public record found on this man was his appearance in the Estill County tax list of 1813.

(11) Isaac Parker Daughhetee first married Patsy Dixon, and, after her death, he married Sidney Ann Wayne. She was related to "Mad Anthony Wayne" and was a sister to Katy and Lucy Wayne, who married brothers of Isaac P. Daughhetee. He had children by both marriages. He is reported by those who knew him to have been a man of splendid character. At this time (1931) only one of his children survives. She is a wonderful fine lady of 84, and her character portrays splendid breeding. She is Catherine Raney, residing in Terre Haute, Indiana (No. 70).

He was in the Estill County, Kentucky, tax lists for 1819 and 1820; in the Estill County 1820 census; in the Clark County, Illinois, census for 1850 (page 407). His widow survived him, and was in the Clark County, Illinois, census for 1860, with the family name spelled Dougherty (page 162)

By his first wife he had the following children, all born in Illinois:

- *61. Benjamin, born 1831: Died _____
- *62. Elizabeth, born 1833: Died _____
- *63. Amanda, born 1835: Died _____
- *64. Nancy, born 1836: Died _____
- *65. John, born 1838: Died _____
- *66. Phoebe, born 1840: Died _____

By his second wife he had the following children, all born in Illinois:

- *67. Rachel, born 1843: Died _____
- *68. Sidney Ann, born 1845: Died _____
- *69. Isaac Parker, born 1846: Died _____
- *70. Catherine, born May 25, 1847: Died _____
- *71. Nathaniel, born 1848: Died _____
- *72. LaFayette, born 1851: Died _____

(12) Elkin Daughhetee. The record of this child was furnished by a decendent of his brother. The fact that he was not named in his fathers will in 1820 indicates his probable death as a child.

(13) Sarry (Sally) Daughhetee married Dr. John Fisher in Estill County, Kentucky, November 20, 1819. The marriage was performed by Thomas White. They were the great-grandparents of the compiler. They resided in Estill County until after 1840. They were in Clark County, Kentucky, in the 1850 Census. They sold their property in Clark County February 11, 1855, and moved to Clay County, Indiana, where they appear in the 1860 Census. A more complete listing of the Fisher ancestors and decendents will be found in the Fisher Family Compilation by this compiler.

They had the following children:

- *73. Caroline Fisher, Born November 14, 1820:
Died after 1870.
- *74. Hortense Fisher, Born December 28, 1821:
Died after 1890.
- *75. Josephine Fisher, Born August 24, 1823:

- *81. Susan P. Fisher, Born February 28, 1893:
Died after 1870.
- *82. John Henry Fisher, Born November 3, 1844:
Died August 29, 1925.

(14) Thomas Daughhetee married Katy Wayne, sister of Lucy and Sidney. He moved from Kentucky to Edgar County, Illinois, where he is shown in the 1840 Census as shown below. He is said to have moved to Wisconsin later, and to have remained there.

1840 CENSUS, EDGAR COUNTY, ILLINOIS

 One male ten to fifteen
 One male fifteen to twenty

With his wife, Katherine, he deeded land in Estill County, as recorded in Estill County Deed Book 6, Page 224, August 20, 1841.

Numbers 121 to 129 reserved.

Polly Brinegar, nee Daughheteer, then residing in Edgar County, Illinois, appointed her brother, John Daughheteer (spelled Daugherty) her attorney to dispose of land left to her, her brother, John Daughheteer, her sister Susan Brinegar, nee Daughheteer. This is recorded in Estill County Deed Book _____, page 328, August 19, 1833.

A John Daughheteer, reported as in Bath County, Kentucky, has not been definitely identified by the Compiler.

In the 1820 Census of Bath County, there was a John H. Doherty between 26 and 45. This presumably was before he had attained his majority.

In the 1830 Census of Bath County, Kentucky, there was a John M. Doherty between 50 and 60: too old for this man. Another John Daugherty between 30 and 40 seems also too old, as this (45) John Daughheteer was not 21 in 1824.

In the 1840 Census of Bath County, Kentucky, there was a J. C. Daugherty between 30 and 40, with four male children; also a J. W. Dougherty, whose age was between 60 and 70, hence too old for this man.

In the 1850 Census of Bath County, Kentucky, there was a John C. Daugherty, 40, a tailor, born in Kentucky. We list his entry complete as a possible listing of our man:

Bath County, Kentucky, Census 1850, House 30, Family 30, page 5.

John C. Daugherty, 40, Tailor, 100, Kentucky.

William H. Daugherty, 16, Kentucky.

James M. Daugherty, 15, Kentucky.

John D. Daugherty, 12, Kentucky.

Marvin H. Daugherty, 9, Kentucky.

Mary M. Daugherty, 7, Kentucky.

Sarah L. Daugherty, 6, Kentucky.

Amelia A. Daugherty, 2, Kentucky.

Artinsa M. Daugherty, 1, Kentucky.

The fact that other Daugherty families were in Bath County at the same time only tends to further confuse the records on this man. In addition to those already listed, the following are found:

1840 CENSUS

Sarah Daugherty, between 30 and 40.

Elizabeth Daugherty, between 50 and 60.

1850 CENSUS

This is recorded in Estill County Deed Book D, page 328, August 18, 1833.

APPENDIX

The following letter from the compiler was written after the book was published, though the date is not known. It was sent either to Grace Christopher Eddy or Margaret Christopher Josserand and gives us two additional generations preceeding the John Daughbetee with whom his published history begins.

"Since my Daughbetee Book was printed I have been doing more digging trying to get a line on the earlier records of the Daughbetee family. I am pleased to report to you that I have had some good luck in this work, and to tell you about it briefly.

"William Daughbetee, whose wife was named Sarah, died in Frederick Co., Va., in 1760. He left two sons...Jervis and William...and there may have been other children. The family lived in that part of Frederick County, later to become Shenandoah Co., Va. Jervis died there about 1814, and some of his descendants now live in Missouri. Their ancestor moved there while that was under Spanish Rule. The other son William D. moved into Monangalia County, Va. (now W. Va.) He married Margery_____, and was still alive there in 1794. He went into that section about 1770. He had a son William, Jr., and evidently a son John who was the ancestor of our line.

"The elder William and our John got grants for a lot of land in that county located on Cheat River in what is now Preston County. When Preston was formed in 1818, most of the family had left that section.

"I was over there last week with my brother and we ran the records pretty carefully to see what we could learn. We found where our John had a lot of this land and where he apparently left the county and a man named Thomas Butler, who was also the Sheriff had sold off John's land stating he had power of attorney from John to do so.

"We went up where the land was located. The town of Albright is built on the property, and a railroad runs through it. A small stream known as Daugherty's Run empties into the Cheat River right there where he lived. The land is all underlaid with coal and an Iron Furnace was on it before the War between the States. This, my dear Cousins is the mysterious estate about which we have all heard so many times in our youth. Probably nothing ever can now be done about it, but if we now owned all that Coal land I imagine we all could get along without working for awhile at least.

"I am still digging to see what earlier records I can find. I am passing this to all of you so you, too, can get your thinking caps on to see if you can help me get these things untangled. Meanwhile, I wish you all the best of health and of the good things in life, and I promise I shall keep right on trying to get all possible facts about our ancestor, John Daughbetee's family.

"Yours very truly,

"C. E. Heineman"
